

In the summer after a March 1965 marriage, Yoshi and Jackson went on a honeymoon to Kyoto and Kyushu and other spots in southern Japan. Above, Yoshi in Kyushu. At right, Jackson in a Kyoto garden. He looks okay but he was sick as a dog.

Honeymoon, 1965

At left, Jackson and Yoshi walk on a Tokyo street around the time they were wed. The photo must have been taken by a Westerner, because a Japanese would have asked them to stop and stare into the camera. But back to the honeymoon. Below, they are on an Inland Sea cruise to Kyushu. Now it was Yoshi's turn to be sick. She's a lousy sailor.
